Prominent Restaurant Industry Leader Backs TableBoost Facility Management App

(Salem, MA, April 1, 2020) Veteran restaurant operator George Carey, a Board Member of the Retail Association of Massachusetts, former Director of the Massachusetts Restaurant Association, and owner of Finz Seafood and Sea Level Oyster Bar restaurants in Salem and Newburyport, has joined TableBoost as an Advisory Board member and investor. George's restaurants use TableBoost's free restaurant mobile/web app that manages all of their equipment's routine maintenance, emergency repairs and replacement purchases. TableBoost saves each restaurant an average of $15,000 a year. George decided to take a more active role with TableBoost with the goal of helping to get TableBoost in the hands of all restaurants in America.

George stated, "I couldn't be more pleased to help TableBoost get their free app out to all restaurants. TableBoost will really help restaurants cut costs, which is very important given the current economic situation. Even before the Covid-19 crisis, the restaurant industry was struggling to deal with rising costs, like the minimum wage hikes, and TableBoost's simple app will save every restaurant thousands of dollars annually. It is a no brainer."

George's investment means a lot to TableBoost CEO Tim Collins. But even more importantly, George's 35+ years of industry experience make him a valuable asset on TableBoost's advisory board and he's already helping with product suggestions and industry introductions.

"George's experience and expertise as an operator, his role on the Board of the Retail Associations of Massachusetts, and his connections in the restaurant industry make him extremely valuable to TableBoost. We couldn't be more pleased to have George helping our team. His investment really validates the value of TableBoost and will help as we expand throughout New England and across the country," said Collins.
